HERBACEOUS PERENNIALS FOR FLORIDA

By Mrs. Roy A. Bais
Garden Study Club

Perhaps Florida Gardens depend too largely on annuals for color. For Florida plantings the choice of herbaceous perennials is more restricted than in some other sections. However, there is a wide variety of perennials suitable for planting here and also suitable for Florida's climate and soil conditions. Cheerful colors during late summer and early fall from perennials help fill the vacancies left in our plantings when many of the showier annuals are through blooming.

A decided factor in favor of herbaceous perennials is that many are evergreen and their foliage provides a permanent background for our garden scene. Some of them require so little attention that spraying, dusting, cultivation and staking may be forgotten. Once the garden plan is laid out the plants need not be propagated every year.

A disadvantage is that weeding, mulching and fertilizer applications is a 12-month proposition—even during the summer. By careful choice of materials, one may have perennials in bloom every month of the year.

Growing perennials subordinate to shrubbery in drifts or large clumps is considered a better arrangement than scattered about with a great deal of distance between individual plants.

When growing herbaceous perennials in front of shrubs, a good practice is to put a piece of metal roofing or other metal covering into the ground in front of the woody shrubs to prevent the roots of the more vigorous shrubs from choking out the herbaceous perennials. Enrich the bed by adding well rotted cow manure and compost which has been generally sprinkled with a balanced commercial fertilizer.

Division is the easiest and quickest means of multiplying most herbaceous perennials. Dig the plants, shake off the soil and you will find that they divide into small plants, most having roots, stems, buds or leaves.

Cuttings and seed plantings may also be used. The method of providing plantings must be determined by the gardener and the type of perennials to be grown.

Perennials Adopted To Florida. Among the perennials adopted to Florida are the following: Adam's Needle (Yucca smalliana), Banana (Musa), Dwarf Cavendish, Manana Blue Sage (Salvia farinacea), Blue Bedder Cacti (Opuntia), Schiocactus, Maxillaria, etc.) Canna (Canna in many species), Cardinals (Guard (Pachystachys Coccinea), Century Plant (Agave many species), Chrysanthemum, Coontie (Zamia, many species), Daylilies (Hemerocallis, many species), Scarlet Sage, (Salvia splendens), Shasta Daisy (Chrysanthemum maximum), Shrimp Plant (Beloperone guttata), Spanish Bayonet (Yucca aloifolia), Stokes Aster (Stokesia in laevis), Spiderwort (Tradescantia virginica), Transvaal Daisy (Ostea Jamesoni), Verbena (Verbena hybrida), Violet (Viola odorata).

CHURCHES

EPISCOPALIANS TO OCCUPY NEW CHURCH—The first unit of the proposed St. John the Apostle Church, shown above in the background will be ready for services. At 9:00 a.m. next Sunday the congregation will meet in their new building at N.W. 2nd Street and Ave. H. Father John Clarence Petrie, vicar and founder of the mission, will offer the Eucharistic Sacrifice at an altar which is the gift of Holy Spirit Episcopal Church, West Palm Beach.

On Wednesday at 7:30 a.m., a Requiem will be celebrated in the new church for the repose of the souls of all whose names are given him by members and friends of the congregation. This will be the first time the Requiem according to the Anglican rite has been offered in Belle Glade.

The new structure is a combined church and parish house, with provision for social functions and educational work as well as divine worship. There is a large kitchen, combination sacristy and priest's quarters, storage room. The sanctuary can be cut off when the building is used for social purposes. It is the first unit of a proposed plant that will consist of parish house, school buildings, church proper, and rectory. The grounds are spacious enough to provide for parking by worshippers.

The congregation was organized into a mission only two years ago after having had preliminary meetings in the home of Belle Glade Episcopalians and their friends. Regular morning services began in the Women's Club building in September 1953 where they have continued until now. Father Petrie gives all the credit for the remarkable achievement of the new group to the leadership of the laity led by Dr. G. R. Townsend, senior warden. Others were Donald R. Parke, junior warden; E. M. Lively, treasurer; G. E. Averill, secretary; P. S. Roberts and W. D. Matthews, vestrymen; Mrs. Thomas Bregger representing the Women's Auxiliary; E. M. Ayres, for the church school; A. L. Durranne for the Young People's Service League.

The plans were drawn by architect Chester A. Cone, and the builder is Nelson Willis. Although the new structure will be used from now on for all services the formal service of dedication will not take place until November when the Very Rev. Canon W. L. Hargrave of diocesan headquarters at Winter Park, will preach a three day mission and conduct the dedication ceremonies.

The new church, officials and members of the congregation extend a hearty invitation to the general public to attend service next Sunday and explore the new church home.

Florida Produces Only Half Of Poultry Needs

Sales of Florida-produced eggs, chickens, broilers and turkeys brought $33,174,000 last year.

Eggs accounted for $19,759,000 of this total and the three types of poultry for the balance. Farm use is also included in these values.

In recent years the gap between production and consumption of these products has been narrowed by the state's poultrymen, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce reported yesterday. Today about half the poultry meat volume consumed in Florida is raised in the state while somewhat less than half the eggs are Florida-grown.

Details of the increased Florida production are given in this week's business review of the State Chamber's research and industrial division. Poultrymen started the year with a flock of 3,305,000 hens and pullets, slightly more than in 1953, and with 34,000 turkeys, more by three thousand. Total meat volume reached 54,319,000 pounds, live weight, a gain of 10 per cent over 1953.

Egg volume reached 480 million last year, also a gain of 10 per cent. Although Florida hens and pullets laid an average of 145 eggs each, exactly a dozen more than in 1953, this average was still 13 below the national for last year.

Virginian Is Named Head Of B. P. O. Elks

John L. Walker of Roanoke, Va., was elected Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks at the opening business session of its 91st Grand Lodge Convention here today. The 49-year-old lawyer, elected unanimously, will be installed at the closing session Thursday morning. He succeeds William J. Jernick of Nutley, N. J.

A native of Lynwood, Va., Walker is the third Virginian to head the Elks since the Order was founded in 1888. He has long been identified with the youth programs of the Virginia Elks Association. He has been chairman of the Association's Committee on College Scholarships since 1945, and in 1949 led the campaign for establishment of the Association's Boys Camp.

Walker has practiced law in Roanoke since 1930. He was president of the Virginia State Bar Association, 1947-48; is a member of the American Bar Association and the American Law Institute and a Director of the American Judicature Society.

Retiring Grand Exalted Ruler Jernick told the Convention that Elks membership showed a gain for the 16th consecutive year. An increase of 26,810 for the year ended March 31 brought the Order's membership to the record high of 1,149,613, 1,729.

Jernick said. Forty-four new lodges were established during the year, raising the total to 1,729.
